

Siegburn

New chapter of the development of the harem.

Sorry for the delay, this time I caught flu and it made me very dumb, as the lol players.

I'll try to reach this week the 100th chapter, I want to finish this volume and start with Rudel's volume 7.

I'm also working on the plot of my new novel, but I think I'll do vol 3 of Cheat Lord first.

I don't know well, but I leave Celia's huge ass in all its splendor as a gift!

When I got up, I went downstairs to have breakfast, there I found only one person.

It was Celia, who was ordering a buffet as breakfast.

I approached and asked her.

"There is no one else except us here, do you mean we are having our turn together today?"

While eating pancakes she tilted her head.

"I understand... don't you think you're overdoing it a bit in eating?"

As she finished eating the pancake she said.

"I need carbs and fat for today."

"Really?"

"Yes. You'll need them too, so eat up."

I sat down next to her and started eating as well.

What does she mean I'll need fats and carbs?

â—†

"Help me, Amy!"

I found myself yelling due to my situation.

"Yoo-hoo!"

Who was screaming besides me was Celia.

After finishing eating she said to follow her.

I did so without saying anything as her attire was how she likes to walk at home.

A small blouse showing her belly button, sandals and hotpants showing part of that huge majestic ass.

I was watching it the whole time that I didn't realize that we arrived at an extreme sports area.

We paid the entrance fee and went to stand in line to use some bikes.

I had ridden a bike, I had fallen from a great height, so this is nothing.

I asked Celia.

"Do you want to spend the whole day here?"

She replied as she put on her gloves and other safety gear.

"I was thinking about what one thing we could do together, and I couldn't think of anything. While walking around yesterday with the others, I saw this place. That's why it occurred to me that we could come, did I do wrong?"

Celia looked at me like a puppy dog, she's manipulating me.

I'll give in because she wants to spend time with them.

"That's fine with me. This is something you like, what I like is not something others like."

"Is there anything you like besides big breasts and mature women?"

Celia asked curious, my mouth grimaced just like an X as she caught me.

Then she burst out laughing.

"Hahaha, just kidding, let's go fast. There's a lot to do today."

"Just so you know, my body is now able to endure everything, I can even beat you from the highest ramp."

"Oh? You say so? Let's see it."

That's how again I didn't learn to shut my mouth.

"Gyaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaah!"

That's how I ended up falling more than ten meters high on a bicycle.

Celia was the same as me, but she has perfect balance, she managed to do many somersaults when she touched down.

She even managed to do several flips in the air while removing her hands from the handlebars.

In contrast, I ended up crashing to the ground.

If I hadn't activated Blut, I would be a red blob now.

I was approached by healers and concerned people.

I liked that the people here are so humble and caring that they instantly go to someone's aid.

It makes me see that in the empire there are not only scum.

I got up and said I was fine, the healers checked me anyway.

Celia finished doing her laps and came to see me.

"Honey, are you all right?"

She asked very concerned.

I told her I was fine.

"Don't worry. I'm in perfect condition, you don't have to be afraid that I broke something hahaha."

(As long as Blut is activated, I can get hit by a train and I'll be fine.)

(Come to think of it, will I be able to withstand explosions?)

As my mind wandered, Celia took my hand and led me to another place.

"Sports like this are very dangerous when you don't get used to them, let's go for safer ones."

Celia was getting worried about me, even though I told her I was fine.

Gosh, what a good girl she is.

â—†

"Hahaha, now that's a lot of fun!"

The next sports activity we went to was one identical to the races I watched on TV.

These were for all ages, of course, there are regulations where types of people of the same age can enter and those who don't meet them can't.

The race track was so long that it was the same length as two streets.

The cars were small, but they didn't squeeze you.

They were powered by a magic stone.

I pushed the button to turn it on so the magic stone could send power to the engine and start.

The speed I was going was high, it felt like I was flying.

I already flew, but to be crashed into a wall or into the ground.

It was really fun, Celia was next to me, we were crashing on purpose, we went around so many times that the clerk had to come and tell us that time was up.

It was wonderful so we decided to buy more time.

The next activity we went on was rock climbing.

We put on our harnesses and other tools.

It is safe to do this, but you always have to avoid any tragedy.

Celia has more experience than me climbing, I never did it, but I didn't mind.

Since I could admire her huge ass while I was climbing.

Celia didn't realize that not only me, other climbers could see the silhouette of her big butt.

That's why I shadowed so they can only see mine. I'm sorry, but I won't let anyone other than me see my women.

The climb was very tiring, my hands and feet hurt.

It took us about two hours of climbing and we reached the top.

There were some employees helping the workers to climb.

Celia gave her hand to one of them, I went to the side to climb with her.

But at that moment I noticed how due to her big butt, the strap that tied her hip broke, which caused her body balance to tilt to the side, and as her hands were sweaty since we never gave a break while we were climbing, it made her slip.

Seeing her fall, I activated my Raijin and jumped after her.

Celia's face showed that she didn't understand what happened, but I ignored it.

I picked Celia up gently as we fell from a height of thirty meters.

Harnesses are made not to break and hold someone's weight even if they are overweight.

So Celia's butt is so heavy that it made it.

I must stop thinking about that, we reached the ground already.

Before touching the ground, I activated the Blut, I could feel how my muscles are tensing and as if I was jumping into a pool standing up.

I made a small hole in the ground.

My knees were a little bent in order to avoid falling, as I returned to my position I looked at Celia to ask her.

"Are you ok?"

And she just stared at me.

An employee came running over to help us.

â—†

We went to the infirmary, despite my saying I was fine they insisted on giving me a free medical checkup.

Both me and Celia were given different tests and they made us wait for the results.

There was nothing wrong with our bodies, except that my stomach has a lot of sweets in it and that will give problems.

The sun was going down, Celia took my hand and we went to a small forest inside the facility to sit down.

There she hugged me.

I asked her as I saw how her head was touching my chest.

"Is something wrong?"

She does this because she is glad to be safe, or is there another reason?

"Thank you."

She said with her head still on my chest.

As she lifted her head I could see her tears.

Celia was crying with happiness at her smile she was showing me.

"I realized late what happened, before I could feel fear and that I was going to die, you saved me, thank you so much honey."

The hug went up a notch, she brought her hands up to my shoulders, I could see how she stood on her toes and her mouth came close to mine.

We engaged in a passionate kiss where we exchanged saliva for a while.

After we finished kissing, we went to sit on a bench.

After sitting down, she sat on me, I could feel through my pants the sensation of her ass.

I hugged Celia and she said.

"You know, at first when my father made me become your concubine, it gave me some anger, I mean, don't you think that's unfair for a woman!!!?"

"Don't we have more rights than in the past?"

"I thought so... but after meeting you and what happened that day, I guess sometimes bad things have very good happenings for some."

She turned to look at me when she said that.

"I have Evelyn and you next to me... also the princess and the others, still Lily scares me when she gets weird when I mention you."

"But despite the problems with this duchy... and the ones you bring, I really enjoy my life as it is hahaha."

Celia's smile was that of a normal girl living in this world of an otome game.

We stayed like that for a while until it was time to close.

â—†

The moonlight illuminated our return home.

We walked along the beach to go straight to the hotel.

Celia stopped to look out to sea, I stopped too and we both grabbed a rock to see who could throw it the farthest.

Oddly enough we both achieved the same amount of force so it was a tie.

We laughed and then Celia glared at me.

"Today was very wonderful, I look forward to our next vacation darling."

I told her.

"Me too."

We held hands and kept walking until we reached the hotel.

As we walked upstairs I saw how Barbara was vomiting due to her symptoms, while Cordelia was vomiting because Barbara wanted to drink alcoholic drinks.

Eli was rubbing her mother's back while Lily was rubbing Cordelia's back.

I laughed so hard because this showed our peaceful and quiet life.

I was going to go ask for more towels, but before I left Evelyn came up to me.

"I didn't want to say this, but Razel-san, my turn is tomorrow."

"Please wake up early as there is somewhere I want to go."

Evelyn told me that her turn was tomorrow, she means that it's definitely important tomorrow.

Throwing up

"Mom, you stained my dress!"

"Cordelia-san threw up on my legs!"

I said to Evelyn.

"Okay, but let me fix this problem first."

"I look forward to our day tomorrow."

She smiled, but I couldn't see her for long as I was busy keeping Barbara from throwing up on Eli.
